

BIOGRAPHY

Allan Mills,
PMO Project Manager
Perdue Farms Inc.

Allan Mills has worked in the Project Management field for over fifteen years. He spent several years implementing Enterprise Project Management Software solutions. He has also significant experience with assessing organization's project management maturity and developing and executing plans to implement Project Management Offices in government, Information Technology, and banking. Allan is currently developing and implementing a Project Management Office at Perdue Farms in Salisbury, MD. He works on several mentoring and training programs to increase the level of project management maturity at Perdue.

He is also an Adjunct professor at Western Carolina University (WCU), teaching graduate level courses in the Master of Project Management degree program. He is also a 1990 graduate of the Western Carolina MPM program.

Allan has been very active in the Project Management Institute (PMI). He is currently a Component Mentor which involves facilitating leadership development with the chapter leaders in PMI. He was president of the North Carolina Chapter of PMI in 2003. Allan is also in PMI's Leadership Institute class of 2005, which is community of PMI leaders focused on development of leadership in PMI and creating a community of leadership and learning.

NASA Project Management Conference